“In the tradition of the great devotional writers and mystics throughout twenty centuries of Christianity, Claudia May eloquently seeks to persuade us that, as the title of her book boldly proclaims, Jesus is enough. She masterfully weaves a detailed attention to Scripture together with insights that emerge from her own experience, offering us the encouragement and healing needed in each season of our lives.”

—Curtiss Paul DeYoung, Associate Professor of Reconciliation Studies, Bethel University

“Claudia May has a way of pulling precious gems of insight and understanding from biblical stories and teachings, bringing out captivating nuances of Jesus’ will and nature. Over and over again she manages to show that Jesus truly is enough.”

—Margaret Houk, author of When You Have a Chronic Illness, God’s Tender Words for Life’s Tough Moments and other faith-based, self-help books

“Jesus Is Enough provides a practical and well-needed approach to our desire for a spiritual road map. This inspired book will bring the reader to a closer walk with Jesus. May plots a path that provides the reader with hope, comfort, and contentment. The reader will find Jesus incarnated in these pages, a Jesus that supplies all their needs.”

—The Rev. Mark Francisco Bozzuti-Jones, associate rector at St. Bartholomew’s, Manhattan, and author of Jesus, the Word; God Created; and Never Said a Mumbalin’ Word

“Spiritual friendship offers leisurely conversation, accompaniment through life’s landscapes, and insights into oneself and into the profound graces of our Lord Jesus. In Jesus Is Enough, Dr. May draws us into that kind of thoughtful, meditative reflection. She walks us through biblical narratives, deepens the experience with stories and poetry, and leads us into prayerful contemplation and faithful transformation.”

—Rev. Mark Lau Branson, Ed.D., Homer L. Goddard Associate Professor of Ministry of the Laity, Fuller Theological Seminary
