

All Creation Sings Electronic Edition

Guidelines for Use

This electronic edition of All Creation Sings presents the complete Pew Edition in a fixed-format .epub file in order to make it available to the greatest number of devices and users. E-book technology continues to develop, and specific instructions will vary depending on the device and the e-reader software used.

All Creation Sings: Electronic Edition is optimized for the iBooks app for iOS and macOS (iPhone, iPad, iTouch, MacBook). A second file that has improved functionality with Google Books is included with this purchase; however, the many variations of Google Books/Android devices make it impossible for us to ensure similar functionality from device to device. This eBook is not available in a .mobi file for Kindle.

Using the Table of Contents

The e-reader application's Table of Contents includes links to the first page of the primary divisions of the book and seasonal and topical sections of the service music and hymns.

Searching in General

This document is formatted to preserve the pagination and look of the printed assembly edition but limits some search functionality. The following content elements are searchable within most e-reader applications:

- Words and page numbers, including headings and footers, within the liturgies section (pp. 4–66) and the additional resources section (pp. 268–288)
- Words and texts on the service music and hymn pages numbered 4 to 267 (such as titles) that are not set with musical notation

The following content elements are not searchable within this electronic edition but are searchable within the worship planning tool sundaysandseasons.com:

- Words set with musical notation in the liturgies section (pp. 4–66)
- Words set with musical notation in the assembly song section (numbers 901 through 1100)

Searching for a Hymn by Title

Include punctuation when searching titles. For example, searching “earth, earth, awake!” will return a correct result, but searching “earth earth awake” might not. As a shortcut, searching only by the least common word in a title may speed up the search.

Using the Indexes

The indexes include links to the liturgical music items on pages 4–66 and to the assembly song items numbered 901 through 1100:
