

DAY 3 BIBLE STORYTELLING SCRIPT

Use this script to guide your storytelling. The images and text match the Day 3 Storytelling PowerPoint you'll find in the Operation Restoration Digital Download.

Image	Script
	Leader: Welcome to Day 3 of Operation Restoration: Mending God's World! Each day when we gather together, we will see and hear a story from the Bible. These stories will tell us more about how God is mending the world. Today's story is from the Gospel of Matthew in the New Testament. Let's all listen to learn more about how Jesus mends the world for God's people.
	Storyteller: Last time we met, we saw and heard a story about Jesus, the Son of God, who healed the bent-over woman. She was hurting, and Jesus mended her body and restored her to health. And he surprised everyone when he healed her on the day of rest, called the sabbath, even though some people thought he shouldn't.
	Jesus continues to mend our world in surprising ways. Today we will see and hear about another way we ourselves can be mended and help others mend. It's called forgiveness. Asking for forgiveness is a way to admit that we have hurt someone else. Asking for forgiveness shows that we want to make things right.
	When we hurt other people's hearts or minds or bodies, we break apart the relationships that God has given us with other people. Forgiveness helps mend those breaks. Giving forgiveness is something God shows us through Jesus. Forgiving someone shows a type of love that helps us live together in peace, without hurting each other. Forgiving someone can be difficult. Even the friends who traveled with Jesus were confused about how forgiveness works. Jesus had been teaching them about how God wants us to live. But they still had a lot of questions.

Image	Script
	One of Jesus' friends was named Peter. As Jesus was teaching his friends about how God wants us to treat each other, Peter asked a question.
	"I understand that God wants me to forgive people," said Peter. "But how many times do I need to forgive them? Once? Twice? Three times? Seven times?"
	And Jesus answered, "No, Peter. Not seven times. Seventy-seven times!" Seventy-seven times? That's a lot of forgiveness.
 Jesus still teaches us about forgiveness today. 	And that is exactly what Jesus was trying to teach Peter. The love and forgiveness God gives us can mend the brokenness that happens between people and the brokenness that hurts the world. Jesus taught his friends and followers about the mending power of forgiveness. Jesus still teaches us about forgiveness today.

DAY 3 BIBLE STORYTELLING SCRIPT

Use this script to guide your storytelling. The images and text match the Day 3 Storytelling PowerPoint you'll find in the Operation Restoration Digital Download.

Image	Script
	Leader: Welcome to Day 3 of Operation Restoration: Mending God's World! Each day when we gather together, we will see and hear a story from the Bible. These stories will tell us more about how God is mending the world. Today's story is from the Gospel of Matthew in the New Testament. Let's all listen to learn more about how Jesus mends the world for God's people.
	Storyteller: Last time we met, we saw and heard a story about Jesus, the Son of God, who healed the bent-over woman. She was hurting, and Jesus mended her body and restored her to health. And he surprised everyone when he healed her on the day of rest, called the sabbath, even though some people thought he shouldn't.
	Jesus continues to mend our world in surprising ways. Today we will see and hear about another way we ourselves can be mended and help others mend. It's called forgiveness. Asking for forgiveness is a way to admit that we have hurt someone else. Asking for forgiveness shows that we want to make things right.
	When we hurt other people's hearts or minds or bodies, we break apart the relationships that God has given us with other people. Forgiveness helps mend those breaks. Giving forgiveness is something God shows us through Jesus. Forgiving someone shows a type of love that helps us live together in peace, without hurting each other. Forgiving someone can be difficult. Even the friends who traveled with Jesus were confused about how forgiveness works. Jesus had been teaching them about how God wants us to live. But they still had a lot of questions.

Image	Script
	One of Jesus' friends was named Peter. As Jesus was teaching his friends about how God wants us to treat each other, Peter asked a question.
	"I understand that God wants me to forgive people," said Peter. "But how many times do I need to forgive them? Once? Twice? Three times? Seven times?"
	And Jesus answered, "No, Peter. Not seven times. Seventy-seven times!" Seventy-seven times? That's a lot of forgiveness.
Jesus still teaches us about forgiveness today.	And that is exactly what Jesus was trying to teach Peter. The love and forgiveness God gives us can mend the brokenness that happens between people and the brokenness that hurts the world. Jesus taught his friends and followers about the mending power of forgiveness. Jesus still teaches us about forgiveness today.